Engineer F. R. Leonard, City Attorney J. R. Jensen and Ray Cook. Nearly the entire personnel of city employees attended the meeting. Of the 42 persons on the payroll, all but about half a dozen were present.

On motion duly adopted, the employees consented to set aside from their monthly salaries a sum amounting to 3 1/2 per cent to be paid into their treasury for use in adding the various recognized relief organizations of the city. This percentage will be paid over twice a month, after each payday, and it is estimated that from this source there will be derived about $165 per month for relief purposes.

The arrangement will continue for six months, or so long as the salary schedule is maintained that the employees now enjoy. Should a change in the salaries be made prior to the expiration of the six months the pledge for contributions will be rescinded.

As no funds exist in the treasury at present and will not be forthcoming until after the next payday, Deputy City Clerk L. O. Stevens advanced $75 to the organization from his private funds. Out of this advance the organization will add the Veterans' Relief Association in the purchase of cans for the canning department, which is putting up fruits and tomatoes for the winter.

Mrs. Charles Taber, accompanied by her daughters, Dr. Etta Wood and Mrs. Rex Wrenn, and daughter, is spending a few days in Brawley.

Lucerne Milk Wins Gold Medal at County Fair

The Lucerne Cream and Butter Company of Los Angeles are today proudly exhibiting the official, Los Angeles county fair, gold medal, won by Lucerne Pasteurized Milk in outscoring all other entries in pasteurized fresh milk.

At a special interview today, to extend congratulations, Mr. C. L. Smith, manager of the Lucerne creamery, stated that the identical winning quality will always be maintained irrespective of the price asked and that this Lucerne milk will positively continue to be 21% richer than the state law requires.

This gold medal award convincingly demonstrates the outstanding quality of Lucerne milk, which is exclusively distributed through the Safeway and Piggly Wiggly stores.

Ask Permit For Delivery Service

The Twentieth Century Delivery Service of Los Angeles, has applied to the railroad commission for a permit to establish delivery service over local territory. One route will include Torrance, Gardena, Harbor City and other points on a direct line from Los Angeles to San Pedro. Another route will serve Redondo Beach, Palos Verdes and other points on the west coast. Service is restricted to the delivery of packages of a maximum weight of 50 pounds each.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, this week, Warner Brothers, San Pedro, show "Igloo," a sensational picture of the frozen Arctic. It is a story of a brave Eskimo hunter who went a-courting and who chanced upon as desperate an adventure as ever befell a human being.

Special Exhibit From "Congorilla" Coming to Plaza

Manager Pat Argus of the Plaza Theatre, Hawthorne, announced yesterday that the mammoth picture book, compiled from scenes taken from "Congorilla," Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson's latest talking and sound picture, produced in the jungles of Western Africa, will arrive in Hawthorne Wednesday, September 28, and will be on exhibit in front of the Plaza theatre.

The exhibit is mounted on a 30-foot moving van and comprises an elaborate, detailed exhibition of thrilling scenes from the much discussed picture "Congorilla." Included in the exhibit are many novelties secured from Pygmy colonies of Africa. Two native attendants accompany the display and withdraw the vast masses from the book as a thrilling lecture ensues over a public address system.

The exhibit will be in Hawthorne Wednesday, September 28, and will be on exhibit in front of the theatre from 6:45 to 9:30 p. m., at which time one or more demonstrations will be given and to which the public is invited free.

Motion Picture Pageant Will Be Held Saturday

Dazzling Electrical Parade Will Be Staged at the Olympic Stadium

(By C. N. P. A.)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 22.—With only a few days to go before the event is placed before the public, the Motion Picture Electrical Parade and Sport Pageant, set for Saturday night in Olympic stadium, Los Angeles, today was declared in complete readiness.

All the stars will be there, said Jack L. Warner, director general. This is assured, he continued, due mainly to the show being given for charity and the Motion Picture Relief Fund being one of the principal beneficiaries.

The parade is declared the "last word" in beautiful float creations. Lights as colorful as a rainbow will play over the ivory, cream and gilded surfaces of the gorgeous vehicles, while attractive film actresses will ride in state aboard the decorated vehicles.

One float represents a gondola, with a prow fashioned as the neck and head of a graceful swan. Another depicts a tropical rain storm. A third is of the Grecian period, while a fourth resembles a sugary birthday cake.

Preceding the scintillant parade, the audience will be treated to a series of sport spectacles and drills. Polo will be played by filmdom's stars; the movie horse, "Redhead," will leap a hurdle through roaring flames; Shriners will drill; 18 massed bands will play under direction of L. Harold W. Roberts, and an illuminated orange grove will stand as another feature.

Of general interest, the folk plan to present the western actors of all studios in a whirlwind riding exhibition, with notable stars leading each contingent of horsemen.

With noted personages expected to be assembled from far and near, announcement was made that Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, will be present as guest of honor.

The fact that virtually all the studios have linked hands to make the event a success has enabled Frank N. Murphy, chief electrical engineer, to mass for the show Hollywood's great store of sun-arcs, which will pour colorful illumination onto the field.

As the beautiful parade of floats enter the stadium, these lights will be dimmed, or masked in such deep hues as amber, magenta or gold, thus permitting the floats to glow with their own illuminations against a background of lesser lights.

Persons who recall last year's fiesta parade or the past Shrine or Elks pageants are assured by Warner that a finer, more colorful spectacle is in store. The show, he said, will have all the magnificence of an Oriental extravaganza, with the seemingly limitless facilities of the motion picture studios to stage it in splendid fashion.

AT TORRANCE FRI. & SAT.

VANISHING FRONTIER

"The Vanishing Frontier," coming to Torrance Theatre this week, Friday and Saturday, is a story of Old California, after the state has been ceded to the United States. It throbs with action, thundering hoofs, whirling lassos, and colorful action. Prominent in the cast are Johnny Mack Brown, Evalyn Knapp, Zasu Pitts and Raymond Hatton.

Vaudeville, direct from Los Angeles theatres, will be given on the stage at the Saturday shows, as well as the Sunday performances, in addition to the regular picture program.

MAURICE CHEVALIER AND JEANETTE MacDONALD

"Love Me Tonight," Coming to Torrance

Maurice Chevalier, the star of "Love Me Tonight," coming next week Wednesday, Thursday and Friday to the Torrance Theatre, was born in the lamide section of Paris known as Montmartre—the equivalent to New York's East Side.

An apprentice in a nail factory, his heart continually yearned for the stage. His first job was as a singer in a little Paris cafe, for a few francs per week. By arduous years of tramping, mostly as a "putty-nose" comic with outlandish clothes, he finally came to fame as the dancing partner of the famous Mlle. Mistinguette.

During the war he was wounded and captured by the Germans. Learning to speak English from a fellow-prisoner was one of his activities while at the prison camp. Another one was to escape from the stockade, and make his way to Paris.

The war over, Elsie Janis persuaded him to appear with her "gang" in a London Revue, "Hello America."

Later he became the recognized musical comedy idol of England and the continent. Jesse L. Lasky persuaded him to come to Paramount Pictures in 1928. He made "Innocents of Paris," a talkie success, and has since been in a number of Paramount hits, including "The Big Pond," "The Love Parade," "The Smiling Lieutenant" and now, "Love Me Tonight."

He is five feet, 11 1/4 inches tall, weighs 165; has brown hair and blue eyes.

TRANSFERRED TO LOMITA
H. W. Hansel, engineer, has been transferred to the Lomita county fire protection district, with approval of the board of supervisors. Hansel was transferred from the Lennox district by County Fire Warden Spence Turner, effective September 18.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS TO BE ENTERTAINED

LOMITA.—Members of the Royal Neighbors whose birthdays occur in September will entertain the lodge on Thursday evening, September 29. A "mystery" program is being arranged which will be sure to please all the guests, according to those in charge.

GRAVITY IRRIGATION
SALEM, Ore. (U.P.)—More Oregon farms under irrigation receive their water supply by gravity flow from streams than by any other means. Next to the 674,396 acres so supplied, are 50,537 acres supplied by water pumped from streams.
